RE: SAT Preparation Course –Fall Session

Because we at Teach are aware of the many SAT preparation courses now in existence, we are writing not only to inform you of our Fall schedule and to provide you with our informational brochures and our poster, but also to tell you more about our organization so that you can feel confident in referring your students to us.

Teach has been conducting SAT preparation courses since 1980. Our Fall course is designed for seniors who are re-taking the test and will consist of eighteen hours of instruction. During that time, students will receive direct instruction in techniques to best approach the format of the SAT with confidence and knowledge. Our course, designed by professional teachers, writing instructors and standardized test writers, addresses the pacing, content, and strategies that will help your students approach the new writing task, the discrete grammar sections and the higher order math skills.

We provide a structured course that will not only familiarize the student with the various components of the new exam format, but will also reinforce the knowledge the student has already received in the academic classroom. Structured practice and independent reinforcement of test pacing and strategies enable students with varying abilities to reach their maximum performance level. Our instructional staff consists of teachers who have many years of experience in the classroom and in SAT preparation.

As in the past, our course will be held at Union College from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Classes will begin September 21st and end on October 7th. We would appreciate you notifying any students who might be interested in maximizing their SAT scores about our course. If you have any questions or need additional pamphlets or posters, please call us at 355-0394.
